

Assateague Island

Josh's family spent the day at Assateague Island in Maryland. When they got to the beach, Josh's sister spotted a pony. What was a pony doing at the beach? Josh's father told them that wild ponies roamed across the whole island. They saw many more ponies. The ponies even tried to take food from their picnic basket!

That afternoon, the family took a canoe ride. Josh noticed something move from the corner of his eye. It was a pony no larger than a deer.

Assateague Island was a very special place!
